The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it cially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their lealth. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart. lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cutthe long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain the branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by Irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which it supplies is lessened, and the organs, receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.

Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success incuring these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative 'Nervine, cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from ophates or dangerous drugs. "Whither Thou Goest." O, Love, I cried, Thou saidst thy path was with roses; and behold, my naked feet Have tracked in crimson all thy stony street,
And faintness cometh swift upon me. Soon
Shall I fall prostrate in thy cruel way,
With eyes that reck not betwixt night and day—

day—
Nor any joy of all thou toldst, is won.
"Wouldst thou turn back?" said Love.
Nay, nay, I cried. Lead on! O, Love, I cried, Thou saidst thine air was filled
With unimagined melody: the lays
That poets whisper in their hearts; the praise
Tumultuous, of the happy birds that build.
I hear a burden of all grief and pain—
Harsh discords of reproach—the broken strain
Of one that by a ruined nest makes moan.
"Wouldst thou turn back?" said Love.
Nay, nay, I cried. Lead on!

O, Love, I cried, These be thy flowers that spring, Glorious with crimson stain, beneath my feet and mine own heart makes molody more sweet For memoried sorrows, than thy glad birds Fain would I tarry in this happy place.

But thou still holdest thine unloitering pace
Toward the dark vale beyond the setting sun.
"Wouldst thou turn back?" said Love.

Nay, nay, said I. Lead on! -Solomon solis-Cohen in the January Scribner.

TABLE DECORATIONS. Dame Fashion's Latest Efforts in Floral Arrangements.

A dinner table decoration seems a strange kind of present to make to one's friends, but it would be difficult to find a more charming gift than the frosted stands for candlesticks, with exquisite silk shades. They can be bought in sets of four, for the corners of the table, and are packed and sent any distance ready for use. A wonderfully artistic arrange ment was recently carried out in green orchids, blush carnations and silver foliage, tied with eau de Nil ribbons, the designs being harps and crescents; the effect of the hanging carnations was very lovely, the pink shades reflecting exactly the color of the flowers themselves.

For supper tables, sideboards, and buffets, where all the available space is needed for the dishes, this fanciful style of floral decoration is naturally quite unsuitable, says the London Queen, but some very effective results are obtained by using the high tubes well weighted at the bottom, containing tall grasses, palms, etc. These can be connected by means of trails of smilax or ivy, and are decidedly handsome. The base can also be decorated with flowers or frosted leaves. Where old family candelabra are numerous, these can be decorated in such a manner as to do away with the tubes altogether, and a judicious admixture of silver and flowers is often more dainty than any amount of artistic floral work. It is not likely that the fashion of making use of every avail able piece of family plate will go out again, and there can be no more suitable receptacles for flowers than silver bowls.

Sprays and buttonholes are very much de rigeur at dinner and supper parties just now; they look very festive when fastened on to a large "bonbon" or cracker, and placed in front of each guest, The sprays are still worn rather large, on account of the size of the sleeves of ladies' dresses, in com-parison with which the old - iashioned small arrangement would look conspicuously ridiculous.

The flowers and lamp shades should be carefully chosen to match them. If flowers are scarce, the brilliancy of the general effect may be increased by the addition of a strip of colored satin down the middle of the table, but unless it is very judiciously chosen and arranged it is apt to make the table look vulgar.

Another favorite design for the decoration of dinner tables consists of initials, either of the family or Christian names, or the monogram of the host and hostess; these are made of some material which looks like cork. They are fitted with tin troughs for flowers and sprays, and have little baskets hanging from them.

A Plea for Husbands Who Smoke. From Donahoe's Magazine.

It does not pay to be over-particular about cigar ashes and pipes. It does not make any difference how much a man loves his wife, he loves his tobacco almost as well. He can worry along for a greater time without her than without the fragrant weed. Just let him enjoy the latter in his own way and you will see more of him than you would otherwise. Now, enjoyment of a cigar is not compatible with a constant effort to remember where the ash trav is, and he will take a delight in flicking off the ash on the floor with his little finger that is beyond the comprehension of the most enlightened feminine mind. He usually smokes in the same place, and the little pile of ashes can be easily located and removed in the

A Handsome, Inexpensive Parlor. The parlor of a tasteful young woman has a cheap wall paper that suggests June with crumpled room of pale pink and leaves of soft olive on a cream ground, and a dade that is between a light gray and green, with just the shadow of roses upon it. The floor is covered with cream-white matting, and the curtains, of white Swiss muslin, with broad white frills, are held in place by ribbons that match the dado. each window is one long, scarf-like cur-tain of China silk of pale green, carried over the top of the curtains in simple, loose drapery and falling in one long end over one of the muslin curtains.

The bookshelves are of pine, painted in white enamel. The furniture is of rattan in its natural cream-white color with a divan of the same heaped with pale pink, green and yellow cushions. The piano in the room is encased in oak; there is a pretty light oak writing desk in one corner, a wicker tea table in another and a bamboo screen wherewith to create another corner when it is needed. They Shoe Society Ladies. There are about nine shoemakers in New York who are the envy of all the other cobblers and manufacturers. They make boots and shoes worn by society ladies at the balls, operas, dinner dances and wedding parties of the season. When a fashionable woman gets a new evening dress she has to have a pair of shoes and stockings to match. Boots of this sort are custommade and costly. The modiste provides a piece of the dress material, the customer takes it to her favorite shoemaker, has her foot measured for the peculiar style she wishes—and the styles are as peculiar and as fluctuating as anything in millinery—and the work is done by men skilled in that delicate art. and Whiskey Habits cured at home with outpain. by men skilled in that deficate are and so the rage. They are made with medium heels, pointed toes, rather long vamps, buttoned and laced, and deftly turned soles almost as thin as parchment. What is called mirror satin is used a great deal. These boots are worn in the dance, the opinion being that by supporting the ankle the power of resisting fatigue is increased. They cost the fastidious lady $15 a pair, she usually orders three pair dur and ing the winter. Low shoes are about the same price. In addition to these silk boots a couple of pair of delicate brown, pearl gray or black are bought at the shoe dealers for the combination toilets worn at small gatherings.

For Nervous Women.

A physician who is a specialist in nervous diseases says that women should sleep at least nine hours at night and one hour in the daytime. A woman will plead that she hasn't time to lie down for a few minutes in the daytime, and she will infringe upon the hours of the night, which should be given to sound, healthy, needed sleep, in order to finish some pieces of work which could as well be completed on the morrow. She will rush and hurry all day long, and then, when the household is hushed in slumber at night, she will sit up to read the daily paper, thinking she will not have to pay for the time she is stealing from the healthgiving sleep that comes before midnight. Instruction of Children.

Teach children to do little things about the house. It trains them to be useful, not awkward, in later and more important affairs; it gives them occupation while they are small, and it is really an assistance to the mother in the end, although she always feels, during the training period, that it is much easier to do the thing herself than to show another how. This last excuse has done much to make selfish, idle, unhandy members of an older society, and should be remembered in its effects by the mother while the little ones are beginning to learn all things good and bad, at her knee. Occupation makes happiness, and occupation cannot be acquired too young.

To make this delicious dessert new milk, warmed to blood-heat, is required. To a quart of the heated milk, after it s poured into a dish, add a tablespoonful of prepared rennet and a tablespoonful of crushed loaf sugar. Serve cold with sugar and cream.

Junket.

Soak half a box of gelatine in half a cup of cold water for a half hour; then cover with a cup of boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add one and a half cups of sugar, a cup of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of wine and a table-spoonful of brandy. Color a delicate green or pink to suit the decorations, and put away to cool. As soon as it begins to harden whip with a wire beater until it is frothy way through. Then put away in moulds previously wet with cold water. When ready to serve garnish with candied fruit.

Wrinkles, Freckles, Etc. If you wish to get rid of wrinkles, blackheads and pimples, bathe the face in hot (not warm) water for five minutes every night before retiring. Powdered nitre and corn starch in equal parts applied upon a linen rag dipped in glycerine is recommended for freckles, but lemon juice is a harmless remedy, and one sure to win if continued in for a few months. Man wants but little here below, But wants that little good.

Nine out of ten men when asking for a drink, will simply ask for "something good," and out of the nine there are not two who know when a drink of good whiskey, brandy, gin or rum is sold them. Few hotels or venders of liquors can assure their customers that the liquors set before them are absolutely pure and old. One tastes almost as good as the other; but if you want to be sure that you are buying only a pure liquor, we advise you to look at the bottle and see if the name of Max Klein is blown in the bottle, and his signature on the label, and if you see it there, you can bet your best dollar that you are getting a "straight" article. MERGURIAL Mr. J. C. Jones, of Fulton, Arkansas, says of tracted a severe case of blood polson. Leading physicians prescribed medicine after medicine, which I took without any relief. I also tried mercurial and potash remedies, with unsuccessful results, but which brought on an attack of mercurial rheumatism that made my life one of agony. After suffering four years I gave up all remedies and began using S. S. S. After taking several bottles I was entirely cured and able to resume work.

Is the greatest medicine for blood poisoning to-day on the market."
